Ross Berntson, Executive Vice President, Indium Corporation (Suzhou) Co., Ltd. (USA)

We promote our quality products through productronica China so that more customers get to know them. At productronica China we can explore our customers' needs and provide solutions as well as technical support. I think the growth rate of China has slowed down, but the market is still gigantic. We will come back to productronica China again next year.

Zhiwei Cai, Corporate Vice President - Engineering & Electronics Materials, H.B. Fuller Company (USA)

I have attended many electronics manufacturing trade shows, but productronica China 2015 is the most comprehensive I have seen. Taking place together with electronica it shows us the entire spectrum of the industry from components to assembly and related services. It also offers us a good chance to get to know new technologies and suppliers. It is an all-covering electronics trade show.

Qiang Fu, Manager, Plastic & Other Dept., Robot Arc Welding & Electronics Sales Div., Shanghai Fanuc Robotics Co., Ltd. (Japan)

We are exhibiting at productronica China for the second time. Comparing to last year, the trade show has again made progresses. There are many market participants and high-qualified visitors at the trade fair. We also met some potential customers. We would like to thank productronica China for such a platform at which we can exhibit our products and we will definitely come again next year.

Xiaoxia He, Deputy General Manager, ShinMayawa (Shanghai) Trading Co., Ltd. (Japan)

There are a lot of very professional visitors at the trade show. We thank the organizer for their great work. Many academic conferences took place during the exhibition. They are very useful to our customers. productronica China helps us to maintain our existing customers and explore new ones. We will come again next year with a larger booth.

Heemeng Hong, Executive Director, Practical Solution (Shanghai) Co., Ltd. (Germany)

We have participated this show since the first productronica China in Shanghai. productronica China is a very good show. It is growing every year. We met key customers who are really focused in this industry. We are very pleased about the visitor quality. We are sure to join the next edition of productronica China and I believe the show will grow larger and larger.

Jacky Hua, Senior Manager of Sales Dept., Tamura Corporation (Japan)

We are exhibiting at the productronica China for the first time and are very satisfied. There are many high-professional visitors. All our existing or potential customers visiting our booth are very professional. We will be here again and we hope productronica China will achieve even more.

Fanny Lee, Asia General Manager of Europlacer (Shanghai) Co., Ltd. (UK)

productronica China is a very good platform for Europlacer. I am particularly fond of the specially designed SMT Area. It enables customers to see machines from different brands at the same location. Visitors also can see the entire production line and get to know what mounting is really like. This year we had very good results which we are happy about. Next year we will certainly come again and support the SMT Area.

James Lee, Marketing Director, Unicomp Technology (China)

In comparison to the previous editions, productronica China 2015 is much better. The online visitor pre-registration is very convenient and the admission is quicker. There are more visitors and they are of higher quality too. We hope to promote our brand image at the show. We hope productronica China will grow better each year.

Marcus Setterberg, Managing Director, Komax (Shanghai) Co., Ltd, (Switzerland)

As the most important show in Asia, productronica China is an amazing event for Komax. Our high expectations of showing machines to customers, as well as playing a close network to the whole industry, are very well reached. We are satisfied with the qualified visitors.

Szewee Tan, President Market Region China, Schleuniger Trading (Shanghai) Co., Ltd. (Switzerland)

We have exhibited at productronica China since its first edition. There are many visitors at the exhibition and many of them are our major customers, so we have been here every year. The annual productronica China brings us opportunities to communicate with others, so we will continue to come.

Weiqing Tan, Senior Manager - Robotics, Epson China (Japan)

We are exhibiting at productronica China for the first time. As a high-level trade show in the electronics production industry, productronica China offers us a platform to exhibit our solutions for electronics products. During the trade show, we had great conversations with our customers and potential buyers. Overall we are very satisfied. We hope that in the future productronica China will continue to develop based on the status of the electronics industry.

James Taylor, General Manager, Universal Robots (Denmark)

It is a very good show. This show is a good platform for everybody to find new technologies and share ideas. That's one of the reasons why we chose this show for the global debut of our new products. We will be back here next year.

Harry Vuksanovic, Industry Segment Management Leader, Electronic & Light Assembly, Asia Pacific Region, Festo (Germany)

It is the first time that we participate in productronica China, but I think it will become one of our main exhibitions. We are very satisfied with the customers visiting our booth. Many international companies are presenting. This is a very good exhibition. Definitely, we will be back at productronica 2016.

Ri Zheng, Deputy General Manager, Saki Corporation (Japan)

This is the first time we cooperate with productronica China. The result is far beyond our expectation. We showcase our most competitive products this time. We expect meeting more customers from the mobile phone and automotive electronics industry in this show and promote our market strategy of 2015. We have very positive feedback from our customers through this participation and thank the organizers for providing us with such a great platform to showcase our products.
