Alexander von Erdély CEO Germany, CBRE GmbH, Germany

“EXPO REAL has once again proven its status as the most important sector event of the year. One important theme this year was cooperation: on the one hand within the sector in terms of common standards in digitalization, and on the other with a view to the question how the real estate world and the public sector can work better together to make a success of large-scale projects. And of course the all-important question: Are things going too well in the market? Everyone is looking for the fly in the ointment – but nobody can find it.”

Andreas Hohlmann, Managing Director Germany, Unibail-Rodamco-Westfield, Germany

“Each year EXPO REAL provides an excellent platform for all relevant themes affecting the future of the property and retail sector. The direct exchange with our business partners and investors, and the many trade discussions are immensely important for us. Also, in the areas of development, asset management and leasing in particular we succeeded in attracting new partners and we are talking about promising new projects.”

Herman Kok, Head of Research, Meyer Bergman, UK

“I have been coming to EXPO REAL for 10 years now and am pleased to see that it is growing its profile and that the international exposure is also expanding.”

---

Stephan Koof, Head of Expansion Retail Deutschland, REWE Group, Germany

“We will continue our fast pace of expansion and our innovations drive. EXPO REAL was once again a very good opportunity to meet face-to-face and talk about new projects and to progress them.”

Peter Riley, Director, Fund Management, M&G Real Estate, UK

“From a Pan-European real estate perspective EXPO REAL is a useful forum for discussing opportunities and it’s also a very efficient way of meeting a lot of people in a short period of time!”

Christophe Tromelin, Investor Relations Director, Vinci Immobilier, France

“EXPO REAL is relevant to me as the European world of real estate investment meets up here at the same place, at the same time. This helps me to understand the future of the European real estate investment market and its different sensibilities regarding economic and political perspectives. Also important, as well as meeting international investors, is that the discussions here make the future more real.”

Mark Versey, Chief Investment Officer, Real Assets, Aviva Investors

“This is the first year that Aviva Investors has exhibited at EXPO REAL. Being here allows us to connect with a huge range of European real estate specialists and we see it as a great opportunity to power up our direct real estate activities in Europe.”
